A little colour for the street?

The same moment in all three: chapters 1-7 done, chapter 8 (Pulse) where you are.

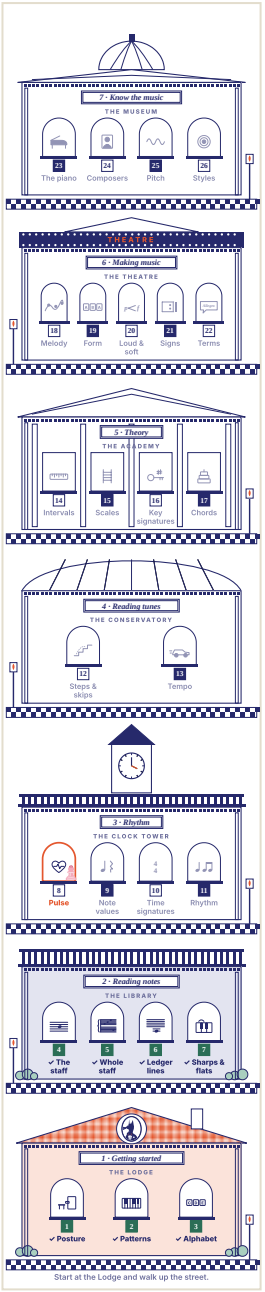

LINES ONLY

COLOUR EVERYWHERE

COLOUR AS A REWARD

The colours. Soft tints of the three colours you chose -- a coral tint, a green tint, a navy tint -- with a coral slate roof on the Lodge, a verdigris dome on the Museum, bushes at the corners. Coral and green at full strength stay for 'you are here' and 'done'.

My pick: colour as a reward. Each building stays in lines until all its chapters are done; then it takes its colours. The street comes to life as you go, the start stays calm, and the colour means something -- like colouring in the room in the Workbook.

Colour everywhere is the liveliest at once, but busier, and the tints start to compete with the coral of 'you are here'.
